

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image forming apparatus connected to a network, including: an operation section for editing a first job ticket specifying an output condition to output image data onto an output medium; an interface section to communicate a remote operation apparatus through the network; and a control section to allow the remote operation apparatus to edit a second job thicket.